

My opinion, backed by a strong consensus of my peers: I Cannot and will not support the current IBOC testing as defacto proof that this system is workable in it's present form.

Backwards compatibility is a must, including the continued support of the existing CQUAM AM stereo method of transmission.

Submitted with all due respect;

Christopher Cuff